AGED LADY TELLS STORY OF MURDER

Charles Douglas, a negro, aged 35, of nowhere in particular, is making a fight for life before Judge Ruppel at Greensburg. He is represented by Attorneys A. H. Bell and James Beacom. District Attorney Ward Eicher and Assistant George Barron are unfolding evidence with which they will try to convice the alleged slayer.

Tuesday morning after the twelve men of the jury answered the roll call, Charles Douglas, the negro alleged to have shot and killed Joseph Smith on the night of June 20, answered "here."

Mrs. Joseph Smith, the wife of the murdered man, was the first to testify. She is the only eye witness to the affair and the fate of the negro hinges on the strength of her story.

The widow, about 55 years of age, shabbily dressed in a well worn black dress, presented a pitiful sight as she rehearsed her story of the tragedy on the night of June 20.

She stated that she was living with her husband along the brick road from Monessen to Webster, June 20, this year. She told that her husband and she had sold some property in West Virginia and came to this county lost spring. They bought the Taylor lot near Monessen and erected a rude hut.

She stated that a strange negro came to their house on Saturday afternoon. She said: "He talked with my husband. In the early hours of the morning of June 20, the old man heard some one at the door. He got out of bed and as he opened the door, he was knocked down by the negro. I went to help him up and the negro hit me on the head and knocked me down.

"The old man had a revolver but it was old and rusty and wouldn't shoot. The negro left for a few minutes. He came back again. He asked me if I had any money. I told him I did not have a cent. My husband had 50c and it was gone when the negro left. People came and Dr. Wilson took both of us to the Monessen hospital where my old man died." This was the story she told and claims that Charles Douglas, the prisoner, is the negro that shot her husband.

The single blade ax which Mrs. Smith used on the murderer was presented in court. Photos, blue prints and other exhibits were presented.

The accused murderer is calm and apparently unconcerned as to the fate in store for him. He protests his innocence, saying: "I am only a poor, harmless negro. I never did nothing to nobody." He will probably be called to the stand some time today to tell of his whereabouts on the night of the murder.

Musical and Entertainment

A musical and literary entertainment will be given in the Methodist church Thursday evening, September 9, at 8 o'clock. The program will consist of vocal and instrumental music, followed by the laughable comedy, "The Sweet Family." Following is the cast of characters:

Ma Sweet, a lone "relic" .....
..... Beryl Thomas
Arminty Ann Sweet, with many winning ways ..... Mildred McCoy
Betsy Belinda Sweet, the delicate one ..... Ethel Roberts
Caroline Cordelia Sweet and Dorothy Dellia Sweet, both twins, Gertrude Snyder and Marjorie Todd
Elizabeth Eliza Sweet, by far the most attractive..Thelma Shutterly
Frances Fedory Sweet, partial to flowers ..... Martha Mitchell
Gloriana Gadabout Sweet, who giggles ..... Esther Farquhar

Admission 20c for adults and 10c for children under thirteen. Proceeds for the benefit of the primary department.

At the close of the entertainment the Epworth League will have ice cream, cake and coffee for sale. Come and meet Ma Sweet and her seven talented daughters. 1t fp

Football Season is Open

Yesterday afternoon at four o'clock the candidates for the High school football team appeared in full force at the Page park grounds to begin practice for the coming season. There was lots of good material on the field, some old at the game, and some making their first attempt at the game, but under the excellent coaching of Profs. Townsend, White and Imber, even the raw material will be used to the best advantage and an invincible team will march onto the field for the first game. The schedule will consist of eight or nine games and will be published at an early date.

Club Organized

A meeting was held yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. R. S. Kelly on Reed avenue and a Little Mothers Club was organized. The meeting was very well attended and much interest was taken. The organization was formed after the methods adopted in McKeesport, where there is at present a very flourishing organization, the work there being outlined by Mrs. J. D. Cowan. The work will be carried on here with the co-operation of Miss McClure, the school nurse and Prof. H. E. Gress, and will be actively in charge of Mrs. L. X. Ely, the local secretary.

A movement will be started at once to acquire equipment with which to carry on the work. This will be done by canvassing for contributions. There are twenty children who have already offered to enlist, and it is expected to greatly swell that number. Another meeting will be held at an early date.

CAN'T MUSTER FINE MONEY

No settlement had been made this morning in the disorderly conduct cases in which Frankie Layton was charged with operating a disorderly house. She was sentenced to pay a fine of $15.00 and costs or serve thirty days in jail. Aline Baker who gave the damaging testimony, was sentenced to five days in jail. Both women were in the lockup at 10 a. m. today.

It was understood that the money was ready to pay the fine, but when it was learned that a more serious charge, that of illegal liquor selling was hanging over the Layton woman, the money was not forthcoming. ,

Squire Watkins has the information against the women and is waiting their release from Burgess Dunlap's court before he will have anything to do with the case. It is evident now that the Layton woman will be forced to serve thirty days in jail before given a hearing on the illegal liquor selling charge.

A. Joseph who was fined $2.00 and costs for obstructing the side walks in front of his place, Third and Donner, and who went to jail rather than pay the fine, concluded that he liked fresh air too well to sweat in jail and he decided to pay up. He was released without consulting an attorney.

Wrong Man

The Merchants Credit manual recently published is not without errors and some people have been rated wrongly and their rating is injuring their credit. The book contains the name of one John Burns and after his name the mark "XX" appears which means get your money. There is a John Burns who resides at 202 Second street who claims he is worthy of credit, but who is now being turned down by merchants on account of this rating. He claims it must refer to another John Burns, as he has always paid his bills promptly.

Strong Words For Ben Steel

Honesty and economy in office are so rare a virtue that when they occur in one person are cause for a real surprise. According to published statement Sheriff Ben Steele, the present incumbent has turned into the county treasury the sum of $1,207.75, being money paid to the sheriff by other counties for writs served. The law regulating these matters became operative about 14 years ago. In these years it is claimed that the several sheriffs preceding Sheriff Steele have turned into the county treasury just $54. Sheriff Steele is conducting his office with modesty but with common honesty. His high and honorable record proclaims to the people his regard for the duties of the office he has received at the hands of the voters of the county—Ligonier Echo.

BOOST BEN STEELE

For the Office of County Commissioner—He Deserves It

Our fellow citizen, Sheriff Ben Steele is leading the candidiates for county commissioner and there is no mistake about it. Throughout the entire county "Ben Steele" is the name oftenest heard, and this is no idle dream.

Sheriff Steele is a busy man. It will be imposible for him to see all the voters of Irwin and vicinity. But this is not needed. People in Irwin and vicinity know him and what he stands for. He is attending to the duties as Sheriff as he has since going into this office. This fact is self evident. In three and one half years the records show he has $16,000 to his credit for the benefit of taxpayers. All that is asked by his legion of friends, including the Republican Standard, is to boost faithful and honest Ben Steele for county commissioner. —Irwin Republican Standard. 1t

JEWISH PEOPLE TO OBSERVE HOLIDAYS

The Jewish feast of the New Year will begin this evening with an ornate solemn service in the temples and synagogues. The Thursday morning service combines some vestiges of ancient ritual with expressions of human experiences and feelings true and real for everbody and at all times.

The Jewish New Year's festival is the oldest of all festivals celebrated in the civilized world. But it is unique for its significance as well as for its antiquity. The secular New Year, January 1, is a day of gratifications; man rejoice in what they have achieved, it is a day for sordid inventories. The Jewish New Years day, however, is a time for serious thought on the meaning of life, it evokes pious contemplation of the difficult and inevitable problems as to right and wrong and its appeal is not that we would get more out of practical life, but value more genuinely, more truthfully, more morally the life that God has entrusted to us.

Much of the success and failure of the work depends not upon equipment, but upon motives. The Jewish New Year's day, acordingly is placed by a wise tradition at the beginning of autumn when men enter upon their enterprises and obligations with zest and zeal. Just then they need a right interpretation of life and a true measure of its value.

The antique features of the ritual of that day express the aspirations all men feel equally. The trumpet calls, constituting the central part of that day, are appeals for the moral stir which men should feel when they contemplate their experiences and seek reinforcement of their hopes. The calls are also an appeal to the large sense of life. The week-day wishes and prayers are self centered and do not give as a perspective of our relations and obligations to the community and fellow man and of their influence upon us But the New Year's Day offers an occasion to reaffirm the respect for and trust in Providence which is the organization of all lives into an all-encompassing justice.

The Jews comprehend this as a comfort in the case of misfortunes and a monition in the successes they may have. The function of the New Year's day is to establish a moral judgment in our life experiences.

Can Be Applied Both Ways

A few days ago a New York court allowed a woman alimony and counsel fees pending a separation suit in which she charged her husband with tiring of her and leaving their home because she was "old-fashioned and out of date." In her complaint she said that she married him when he was poor, bore him eleven children, and had always done all her housework and made careful provisions for his comfort. Now, after twenty seven years of married life, he has accumulated considerable property. He claimed that she had not progressed as rapidly socially as he had, and that, therefore, he was privileged to spend much of his time among more genial companions. This is by no means a unique situation. Nor is the court's decision, which was vigorously opposed by the husband's counsel, unusual. But the case has attracted some attention because of its bearing on conditions which often arise in this country of rapid changes in fortune and social understanding.

In this case it was shown that the woman was a model mother and housekeeper, and that her husband got his start in business largely through her frugality and willingness to do all the housework rather than to put him to additional expense. That she could not do these things and at the same time keep pace with a husband even moderately active in business affairs, which afforded him opportunity to extend his social connections, is very easily seen. But the husband declared that his future prosperity depended on her co-operation outside the home as well as within it. This brings up the question as to whether the husband should sacrifice his wife or his future prosperity In effect, the court decided that his future prosperity was second in importance to his obligations to the wife who bore her share of the struggle in the early stages, and there is little doubt that the court expressed the popular belief.

Whatever may be the attractions outside the home, a man obligates himself when he marries, to put his family above them. There is no choice between family and activities which endanger the family. This principle applies to women as well as to men, and in these times there is not infrequently need for reminding women that there may be an "old fashioned husband" as well as an "old fashioned wife."

Candidates Commend This Paper

A Republican candidate from the eastern end of the county stopped in at the Independent office yesterday long enough to offer congratulations for the stand the paper has taken for a free and open primary election, giving all candidates equal chance in the field. Without doubt, he claimed, it had an effect that will be lasting and it put an end to the manipulations of certain would be leaders. Candidates everywhere appreciate this effort to break up slate making and injure the chances of capable, deserving and hard working men. While this paper modestly accepts any enconiums offered, we reiterate that it was and is an honest contention and we are just as firm in our stand for a square deal for every candidate as Woodrow Wilson was with his submarine policy and to the politics of Westmoreland county, the victory is as great and important as Wilson's to the nation.

There is an element in politics that needs watching. Dark lantern methods have been used in the past and they will be used in the present and future unless the light is turned on at the proper time and when it is, would-be bosses soon hide cover. In two weeks from today, the electors will make a decision as to who shall contest for the offices in the fall, and it is to be hoped that the Republicans will be permitted unhampered and unprejudiced to make their decision, and that after the primaries, they will receive the support of their party. If this be true, there is no chance of Democratic success in the fall, and for the presidential election next fall, old Westmoreland will be back in line with a good strong majority for the party of protection and prosperity

Origin of "Editor."

One of the most interesting verbal or philological trails that scholars now are following into the past for light on origins is that which has the word "editor" stamped upon it. Yale's authority on evolution of English speech, Professor Lounsbury, could find no earlier use of the term as applied to the chief writer and director of a periodica than in 1768 but there is evidence in the superb collection of British and American newspapers owned by the Antiquarian society, Worcester, Mass., that it was so used in 1761. The alleged use of the title in the Boston Newsletter of 1728 proves, on examination of the file in the Boston public library, to be inaccurate. Undoubtedly Isaiah Thomas, in 1773, spoke of himself as editor of the Royal American Magazine The interesting point to be noted, while the hunters are busy on the trail, is that, relatively speaking, "editor" is a new word in journalism. "Printer" and "publisher" preceded it. —Christian Science Monitor.

Way of the Bluejay.

The bluejay—Cyanocitta cristan—a purely an American bird He is about twelve inches long, is light purplish blue above and graying below. The collar and frontlet are black and the wings and tail ultramarine, barred, the outer tail feathers being tipped with white What a graceful, beautiful bird this is, impertinent and noisy, his raucous scream followed by a chortle that sounds much like a mocking "Ha, ha, ha, oh, my" He is accused of robbing the farmer's corn crib, of sucking the eggs of other birds and even of tearing to pieces their young The sportsman as he goes through the woods, gun in hand, thoroughly hates the jay, which is a kind of game warden, sounding an alarm to the other birds as their enemy approaches. Naturalists have placed him in the crow family despite his beautiful plumage, but his manners and his morals are more like those of the sparrow hawk.—Indianapolis News

The Darkness Before Dawn.

It is proverbial that "the darkest hour precedes the dawn." W. F Denning, the English authority on meteors, has recently called attention to the literal accuracy of this proverb, as established by his own observations on thousands of nights He says

"Before dawn a greater darkness seems to drop down like a mantle upon the immediate surroundings Objects which were plainly observable during the previous hours of the night are blotted out, and a nervous feeling is sometimes induced by the dense opacity of the air"

He claims to have noticed this phenomenon when the subject was far from his thoughts, so that it could not have been purely subjective. He is unable to state the exact interval before sunrise when the remarkable darkness comes on nor whether it is common to each season and sky conditions

Wellington's Wounded.

It is difficult to realize the callousness toward the sick and wounded against which Wellington struggled in the peninsula. One evening at dinner he heard that at a post several miles away a large number of sick soldiers were lying in the open, exposed to the weather. He rode promptly to the place, found the sick in the plight described, while the healthy officers were in comfortable houses, and was told by the commanding officer that there was no accommodation for the sick He instantly arranged in detail for the billeting of the sick in those houses, but, suspecting what might follow, paid a surprise visit the next night and found that the invalids had again been turned out into the open Wellington immediately reinstated them arrested the officers and had them tried and dismissed for disobedience

A Little Problem.

If the telephone company charges 15 cents to carry your voice across the Hudson river, and if the telegraph company charges 25 cents to carry ten words across, and if the ferryboat charges 3 cents to carry your body across, and if the tunnels charge 7 cents for carrying your body under the Hudson river, and if the express companies charge 28 cents for carrying a 20 pound parcel across, and if the government charges 15 cents for carrying a 20 pound parcel across, compute the amount of logic in a square inch of modern civilization —Life.

A. P. Darr

A. P. Darr of Cook township, is a candidate for sheriff and is looming up strong. He is well known throughout the county as a man of fine executive ability, and in his private and official life, is an upright man. He is not unknown to the people of this county. He had charge of the county home where he made a reputation as being a careful and economical executive.

Mr. Darr may be depended on to bring the same honesty of purpose to bear in the office of sheriff, where he would doubtless make an enviable record. 1t

CHAIRMAN KIEHL TALKS

HEAD OF THE REPUBLICAN COUNTY COMMITTEE PREDICTS A BRIGHT OUTLOOK FOR THE PARTY IN WESTMORELAND COUNTY THIS FALL.

Republican County Chairman Bennett F Kiehl believes the outlook for the Republican party to be exceptionally bright this fall. County committeemen from all precincts have been reporting good prospects for the party, and with the very heavy enrollment, Chairman Kiehl thinks things are going to bring victory all along the line. In speaking of the campaign, Chairman Kiehl said: "There are rival candidates seeking the nomination on the Republican ticket for the offices of sheriff, controller, county commissioner, recorder of deeds, register of wills, treasurer, coroner and county surveyor Strict neutrality is of course being followed by me with reference to these offices. I feel free to speak however, about the Judicial contest.

"I want every Republican to know that a certain clique of Democratic politicians masquerading under other colors is circulating misleading circulars, announcement cards and stories against Judge McConnell, hoping thereby to elect another Democratic judge.

"In view of the splendid record of Judge McConnell, every other Republican lawyer stood aside, believing he should be re-elected without a contest. There being already two Democratic judges (Doty and Copeland) on the bench, fairminded Democrats are not asking that all three judges should be Democrats, but believe that Judge McConnell should be re-elected without opposition.

"Republicans be on your guard and help Judge McConnell, the only Republican that is a candidate and then the judiciary will be truly nonpartisan and not all Democratic."

ENDORSE MILLER FOR TREASURER

Manor, Pa., September 7, 1915

Dear Sir and Brother.—

The Manor Volunteer Fire Department of Manor Borough take pleasure in announcing the candidacy of Brother A. D. Miller, on the Republican ticket for the office of County Treasurer of Westmoreland county, subject to the primaries September 21, 1915.

For the past fifteen years, our company has enjoyed the help and cooperation of Dr. A. D. Miller, and now we esteem it a pleasure to advise you that he is a candidate for the above mentioned office. The Doctor is a member of our company. He has always been a willing supporter a cheerful and untiring worker for the help of our Firemen and Fire Department

His honesty and ability is unquestionable. We consider him amply able to dispose of any duties which may be assigned to him, and therefore do not hesitate to recommend him for this office.

Anything you may do for our brother fireman, A. D. Miller, will be greatly appreciated by our company.

Very truly yours.

Manor Volunteer Fire Department.

P. H. Brown, Secretary.

Star Theatre

The Star has another feature for tonight which will no doubt surpass all the others that have been shown so far this season. The picture tonight will be "Her Triumph," featuring the famous international star, Gaby Deslys. This is Miss Desly's first and only appearance in moving pictures. "Her Triumph" contains some of Gaby Desly's most renowned dances, interwoven with a tense dramatic plot, that upholds the interest from the first flash to the stirring climax. It is a story of a humble chorus girl who became famous in one night, incurring the hatred of the leading lady which makes the drama intensely interesting. Miss Deslys is supported in the cast by her dancing partner, Harry Pilcer

By special request the Star will show Theda Bara, as the vampire woman in that wonderful play "A Fool There Was," on Saturday night. 1t

RECEIVING A LEGAL HOUSE CLEANING

The Ligonier Owl nest is receiving a legal house cleaning before Judge Lucien W. Doty. William Sanbrook, former steward of the Order of Owls at Ligonier, is the defendant in one of the illegal liquor selling cases at this term of court John Seger is the prosecutor. The order was organized several years ago in the David Stitley building on Loyalhanna street. The building now belongs to the Menoher estate. The organization moved along very smoothly and some of the most prominent young men of the town became members. Its building was the social center of the town and as it has been stated, the rooms were kept open continuously where drinks were served and Sunday gatherings were hot and spirited. The place became obnoxious to the good people of the town and last spring it was raided and a number of the inmates were arrested including the steward.

Tuesday morning the case was started and witnesses stated that they had purchased both beer and whiskey and paid for it. A large number of Ligonier people will testify.

Don't set 'round with hangin' lip

Epidemic at Erie

Erie, Pa., Sept. 8—State health inspectors and probably an expert from the Rockfeller Institute, will arrive here tomorrow to assist in checking an epidemic of infantile paralysis. Six new cases were reported today, making 50 cases since January and 44 from August 1.

All children less than 12 years old have been excluded from moving picture theatres and other places of public amusement. Members of the board of education today said schools would not be closed unless state health inspectors consider it necessary.

Failure of physicians to report the cases to the city department of health is given as a cause for the spread of the disease. One doctor has been fined for not making a return of a case

Fearing of a greater spread of the disease, many parents are leaving the city with their children. Fourteen departed today.
